Roosevelt County is Montana's nineteenth most populous county, with an estimated 10,524 residents in 2005. Wolf Point, the county seat, is the state's twenty-eighth largest city, with a population estimated at 2,623 in 2005. Other cities and towns in Roosevelt County include Bainville, Brockton, Culbertson, Froid, McCabe, and Poplar. The vast majority of Roosevelt County, including Wolf Point, lies within the Fort Peck Indian Reservation.

In 2005, the Montana Department of Commerce awarded Roosevelt County and the town of Culbertson $800,000 for economic development. Sustainable Systems, LLC, which specializes in renewable fuels and bio-based product development, received a portion of this money to purchase Montola Growers, which produces oilseed products and guarantees 100% crop buyback to participating farmers, to whom they provide seed.²³

Roosevelt County also boasts Assiniboine Village, a 40-acre site on the banks of the Missouri River, where visitors experience traditional Assiniboine culture through music, dance, food, games, and storytelling.⁴

Public Administration was Roosevelt County's number one industry subsector in terms of employment for 2005. Other significant subsectors included Educational Services, Retail Trade, Health Care & Social Assistance, and Accommodation & Food Service.⁵
